WGM Mona Khaled: "Participating in the castle chess camp was like a dream; it was great to be surrounded with all those people who shared immense love for chess. After hours of training, analyzing and playing chess, you'd still find kids in the cafeteria challenging each other on the board. What a delight it was to see such passion! Not only did I receive invaluable feedbacks and had the opportunity to attend lectures of $2600+$ instructors, but also I was reminded of the pure love towards chess. The instructors were so good and knew how to deliver everything in the most exciting way. Everything was organized perfectly, everyone was so helpful and great and I wished I could see something similar in Egypt one day"

6. PROPOSALS

1. We suggest that in future World Championship cycles, if the Women's World Champion declines her invitation to the "Open" World Cup, she would be replaced by another woman player from the top of the rating list, and not by a man.
2. We strongly recommend again obligating players of all official FIDE events to follow regulations and Dress code rules, by contracts and official FIDE events rules.
3. We would like to request to change our name (Commission for Women's Chess) to "Commission for Women in Chess".
